

NASHIM ACADEMY

PROSPECTUS 2027

Study at the Nashim Academy

The First Jewish University for Women in Europe

For the first time in Europe, Orthodox Jewish women will have the opportunity to earn a prestigious university degree in an environment designed around Torah values.

Nashim Academy has been established to provide high-quality higher education in a setting that understands and respects the needs of our community.

Endorsed by leading Rabbonim, Nashim aims to empower women to develop professionally and personally, contribute to the community in new and varied ways and increase their earning power.

Nashim Academy is currently progressing through the University of London's approval process. Students will study towards internationally recognised University of London degrees delivered through Nashim Academy.

FAQs

Can I complete the degree entirely online?

Yes, but face-to-face study at Nashim is strongly recommended to benefit from support, campus facilities, and peer engagement.

I am married and living abroad. Is Nashim Academy suitable for me?

Yes. The hybrid study format offers flexibility for students whose circumstances mean they cannot attend campus regularly. Please contact us to discuss your individual situation.

I am a mature mother, is this degree for me also?

Absolutely, there is no age limit - mature students are warmly encouraged to apply!

When is Nashim Academy planning to open?

October 2027
